Impact of Green Ridge House Opening On GHI Membership Concerns Board

by Mary Lou Williamson

At the Greenbelt Homes Board of Directors meeting on February 22, six members worked through an agenda laced with a variety of housekeeping chores. (Directors Virginia Moryadas and Stephen Polaschik were absent. Director James Foster arrived late in full Army Reserve uniform from an official function.)

Green Ridge House

Board members are concerned about problems which may arise as elderly members move into Green Ridge House. With occupancy of the city's 100-unit elderly housing facility expected to take place during the next two months, GHI does not yet know how many of its own members will be accepted into the building. Interviewing of applicants is not yet complete. Both state (Community Development Administration) and federal (Housing and Urban Development) officials must okay the final list before potential residents can be notified of their approval. Persons chosen may then have as little as a week to ten days to "take it or leave it," as board member Wayne Williams pointed out.

One member, unsure of his decision, has expressed a desire to sublease his GHI house in case he wishes to return to it.

With some caution, the board agreed to allow this member to rent his unit for not more than one year. "We would like to give people the chance to go over there and see (whether they like it) and not have to make all their decisions at once," said a sympathetic board president James Smith. "But I am concerned about putting off selling in a time of inflation. A year from now the house will be more costly to the new member." Smith also speculated that it might be unwise psychologically to give such an option. "Perhaps," he said, "they need to know they have to be happy where they are going." He was also reluctant to set a trend: "this may not be the only request of this kind; there may be others." Smith did not want to see very many sales postponed for one year.

Williams agreed: "We should consider each case as it arises, on an individual basis and not set a policy."

"I suspect you'll have a number of GHI members moving to Green Ridge House," said member Charles Schwan. "They will be moving at a time when the sale of GHI homes is quite difficult . . . (because of limited financing available). This is a problem that has concerned the city's Elderly Housing Advisory Committee (EHAC) and the Council. Council hopes that GHI will give all due consideration" to the individuals involved, said Schwan, who as a city councilman also serves as council's liaison to EHAC.

Smith called on "management to interview (prospective Green Ridge House residents), carefully weigh each situation, and be rather conservative in its recommendations to the board."

Heating Formula

The board unanimously agreed to waive the usual extra heating charge for the addition to the home of member Robert Wilhide. In a decision which the board feels it is unlikely to repeat, it recognized a unique situation. Wilhide has installed storm and thermopane windows and completely insulated his frame home including the addition, which is electrically heated. Thus not only is he not using extra GHI heat for his addition, he is using less GHI heat for his basic unit.

The board felt it was on less firm ground, however, when it came to adoption of the heating formula for additions in general. The Engineering and Maintenance (E & M) Committee's new formula had been referred to management for recommendations. General Manager Roy Breashears reported that "management has reviewed the formula and is satisfied . . ." However, he called for a delay in implementation. GHI expects to bring all units up to specified standards — both basic structures and all additions — during the initial stage of rehabilitation, he explained. The corporation will then assume the responsibility for all additions (something it does not now do) and charge for heat according to a formula not yet developed.

If the board adopted a new heating formula now, it would probably have to be changed in three to six months, Breashears cautioned. "There are many questions that are before the board with regard to insulation of additions that will have to be settled . . . before a basic formula . . . will apply fairly to all members," he said. Therefore, he called for a moratorium on any new additions.

The majority of the board felt no need for a moratorium, however. "We don't want to increase their costs by delaying construction," Smith argued.

"If there are any new additions built now, they must meet the specifications in the rehabilitation plan. We can give them those requirements on storm windows and R-values for insulation," added board member Bobbi McCarthy.

"Let's push management to get these specs," insisted Smith. The one question still open, he said, was siding. Siding for both new and existing additions will have to match whatever new siding is used in the rehabilitation program, Smith explained.

Board member Margaret Hogenesen supported management's call for a moratorium. She offered a motion that "no new additions be approved until we decide on siding."

Opposing any delay, however, Smith argued, "We could approve an addition tonight and tell the member the siding will have to be one of three materials and the decision will have to be made by April 1." The motion failed.

The many variables involved did convince the board to delay any change in the heating formula until the next heating season and the next budget.

Member Del. Reynolds, who also has an addition and has asked for relief from the extra heating charge, was disappointed. "We asked for

Greenbelter To Be Soloist In Philharmonic Concert

Greenbelter Betsy Turkiewicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Turkiewicz, Greenhill Rd., will be one of the featured soloists in a concert by the Prince Georges Philharmonic Concert, on Sunday, March 11. The concert, conducted by Emerson Head, will be given at 3 p.m. in the Queen Anne Auditorium, Prince Georges Community College, Largo. The public is invited and admission is free.

Turkiewicz, a 10th grader at Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High School, was one of the winners in the Broad Creek Youth Soloists Competition held by the Prince Georges Music Teachers. The competition was for piano, voice and orchestral instruments. She will play the last movement of the Bruch G Minor Violin Concerto with the Philharmonic. For further information call Mary Granofsky 577-4990.

750 Sign Petitions Opposing Rezoning for Parcels 3 and 4

by Elaine Skolnik

Although the Prince Georges County Council, sitting as District Council, is not expected to act on rezoning petitions for Parcels 3 and 4 until 1980, Greenbelt citizens have geared into action to oppose the rezoning of 10.2 acres of land from rural residential (R-R) to townhouses (R-T: up to 10 units an acre). The parcels (Lerner, Ammerman and Reiner, trustees) are located along the northern border of Greenbelt on the east and west, respectively, of Research Road.

Irene Hensel, chairperson of a petition drive opposing the rezoning applications, presented petitions with 750 names to the city council on February 26. The petition drive was conceived at the February 1 meeting of the Greenbelt Homes Inc. Ad Hoc committee, chaired by Director Roberta McCarthy. The Ad Hoc committee meeting was called to get membership input on parcels 3 and 4. Hensel said the drive is continuing and she would welcome volunteers to circulate petitions.

Also going on record against the rezoning were Greenbelt Homes Inc. (GHI), the city's Advisory Planning Board (APB) and Park and Recreation Advisory Board (see stories in February 22 issue) and the Board of the Lakeside Citizens Association. The general theme was "Greenbelt needs single-family homes."

F. Anthony McCarthy pointed out that there "are less than 5% single-family homes in Greenbelt." He spoke of the need to increase this ratio to accommodate families who require more space, want to stay in Greenbelt, but cannot do so because of the lack of free-standing homes.

Eileen Peterson, speaking on behalf of the Board of the Lakeside Citizens Association, urged the "city council and all the citizens of Greenbelt to actively oppose rezoning of Greenbelt's remaining undeveloped areas, where that rezoning is away from single-family, free-standing homes."

Disclosure

Eunice Coxon, 9 Research, asked council " . . . if, perhaps, the time has not come for the council to require by ordinance or otherwise that the members of . . . (APB) . . . follow the same disclosure rules as outlined in the code for members of the city council, as far as land ownership or interest is concerned."

She was apparently reacting to a report in the February 22 News Review that APB Chairman Donald Volk, and APB member Mary Clarke and councilman Gil Weidenfeld were attempting to purchase the 1.7 acre Parcel 5 from the same owners as Parcels 3 and 4. The tract is located north of Ridge, just to the east of Lastner Lane. Negotiations on Parcel 5 were started about a year ago. The city received rezoning petitions on Parcels 3 and 4 last month.

The present zoning of Parcel 5 would allow six to seven single-family homes, but Volk, Clarke and Weidenfeld said they intend to build three free standing homes for their families. All three have stated that they will abstain from voting on parcels of land under the trusteeship of Lerner, Ammerman and Reiner.

Though she herself is a GHI member, Coxon thought there were too many GHI members on the APB. She said, "My research tells me that there are three members of Greenbelt Homes Inc. on this 7-member committee. Most of the city, town or county committees I have served on have ground rules that limit membership to one individual per geographical area or organization."

Band Concert

The Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High School Symphonic Band, Orchestra, and Concert Band will perform on Friday, March 9, at 8 p.m. in the ERHS auditorium.

The concert will be a presentation of the programs that will later be offered at the County Band and Orchestra festivals where these groups will be judged and rated, or receive comments.

The pieces will include works by Tolz, Reed, Bizet, Beethoven and Handel. All are welcome.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

The next REGULAR MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL has been POSTPONED from MONDAY, MARCH 5 to MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1979, 8 pm.

Washington's Birthday Marathon

by Larry Noel

Chris Mason, Alexander Barnes and Marty Greenbaum had something in common. Mason won the 18th Annual Washington's Birthday Marathon, one of the oldest in the country, in the good time for the weather conditions of 2 hours 26 minutes and 41 seconds, only 4 minutes and 27 seconds over the course record. Barnes finished, with one of the best times he has run in recent years and Greenbaum was happily finishing his 12th Beltsville marathon. All three runners finished in good shape in relatively fast times.

Not so the majority of the 372 starters and 242 finishers who were out on the freezing cold course much longer, some as long as five hours. It might be said that the weather and the survival of the runners was the main story, not the times in the race, as is common in most races.

Although Greenbelt has at least 12 active marathoners and most had signed up for the race, in a rare show of wisdom they opted to run another day. Alexander Barnes ran one of his best races in recent years, finishing 44th in 2:58:56, beating the 3-hour barrier goal of all marathoners. He also was fifth in his age group. Barnes was finishing his 8th Beltsville marathon and his 22nd marathon, including 4 Boston marathons.

Marty Greenbaum, a long time resident of Greenbelt but recently living in Largo, Md., finished 124th in 3:24:48 over 19 minutes over his best time. Greenbaum has finished more Beltsville marathons than any local runner, with 12 to his credit out of 28 regular marathons and 3 super marathons (36 and 50 milers).

This marathon had probably the worst running conditions of the 18 years. 1972 was bad, as a heavy wind made a low wind chill factor, but this year the 10 degree F. temperature turned the water in the cups offered to the runners into ice and icicles appeared on every face. The unlucky or untrained runner was out there 4 or 5 hours. The Prince Georges Red Cross unit and some doctor-runners may have prevented any serious cases of frost bite and hypothermia (the body's inability to cope with cold).

The Greenbelt JAYCEES sponsored this marathon as they have for some years and provided valuable sentry duty at intersections to protect the runners. The Glenn Dale Civic Association members and Boy Scouts did the same along Spring Field Road, as well as manning the water station. Three police organizations provided protection from auto traffic, the County, Park and Agricultural police. The Greenbelt Recreation Department offered hot showers to out of town runners.

When the Blizzard of 1979 started, 3 runners were still on the course, but only 10 minutes away from finishing.

Words of Appreciation

In our editorial space this week we are reprinting two letters of thanks to those city employees who worked so hard to clear the snow and ice from our city streets following Greenbelt's worst snow storm. The first is a letter sent to those individuals from the city council; the second is from Greenbelt's postmaster.

During the past month the Washington Metropolitan Area has been plagued with snow, sleet, and ice. Last week Greenbelt suffered the most severe snow storm to take place during the City's forty-one year history. The needs of the community placed a very great burden upon the Public Works Department.

During this emergency you proved to be one of our most reliable and loyal employees. You and many of the other Public Works crewmen put in very long work hours under extremely difficult work conditions.

As a result of your dedicated efforts, Greenbelt was in the forefront in keeping its streets open to use by the public. The City Council has received many favorable comments from the citizens of the community concerning the work which you performed.

On behalf of all the residents of the community, thank you for your extra efforts during this critical period of time.

Richard Castaldi, Councilman
Charles F. Schwan, Councilman
Gil Weidenfeld, Councilman

On behalf of the management and all the employees of the Greenbelt Post Office, I want to express my deepest appreciation for digging us out after the recent 24 inch snow storm.

We were able to restore delivery service Wednesday, only one day behind schedule.

Thanks to you, our retail window service opened promptly on Tuesday morning without any delays.

Our heartfelt thanks to the City of Greenbelt and its dedicated and hardworking public works employees.

The News Review staff also adds its thanks and appreciation for a job well done. We were able to walk to the office the past two Tuesday evenings. And we were escorted home in the wee hours of the morning by Greenbelt police officer Charles Watkins the first week and officers Dave Fulgham and John Lann in the city's 4-wheel drive vehicle last week. Our copy was able to get to the shop early Wednesday and Thursday. And our carriers, for the most part, were able to get to most homes Thursday evening to deliver the paper.

Help the Petition Drive

To the Editor:

As chairperson of the petition campaign, I want to thank all the people who carried and signed petitions. We did a good job. The total number of signatures to date is approximately 820.

I especially want to commend Eunice Coxon for her support and advice.

The campaign will be on going until a decision is made about parcels 3 and 4. We still need lots of help so please call me - 345-8630. It's everybody's fight.

GHI NOTES

The Board of Directors has called a special board meeting for tonight, March 1, to discuss the rehabilitation program, namely financing and the proposed amendment to the Mutual Ownership Contract. The board meets at 8 p.m. in the board room, Hamilton Place.

The rehabilitation surveyor will be making his rounds on Laurel Hill Road next week in the following courts: 9, 8, 7 and 4. Members do not need to be present for this interior survey; however, if they wish to be they must make prior arrangements with Ray MacCawley, 474-5566.

In the aftermath of the great snow, there have been soggy grounds, clogged water lines and a few caved in shed roofs.

And, while some people were out shoveling the billowy white mounds last week, some people were painting it. One such member, Valerie Watson, of Ridge Road, painted two water colors during the storm which are now on loan and brightening the hallway in the Administration Bldg. on Hamilton Place. Other members who would like to exhibit their paintings or photographs at GHI should give Sandra Barnes, Coordinator of Member Services, a call on 474-5566.

Remember the GHI logo contest. A number of entries have been received; more are wanted. Members who have an idea for a symbol representing the cooperative, should send entries in quickly.

We have it on high authority that sharing the ride is a very good idea.

It made sense to Noah.
After all, it was a whole lot more economical and efficient to get together and share the ride than it would have been for everybody to go their own way.
And that still holds true today. Sharing the ride with just one other person can cut your commuting costs in half.

Think about it.

Share the ride with a friend.
It sure beats driving alone.

Our Neighbors

Sorry to hear that Greenbelt's popular city clerk, Gudrun Mills, slipped on the ice and suffered leg and arm injuries. We hope she mends quickly.

Our deepest sympathy to Adelaide Kaighn, 8-A Southway, on the death of her husband Edward.

Condolences to Josephine Ross and family, 108 Lastner, who lost her husband Edwin and their father.

Duplicate bridge update! First place winners on Feb. 9 were newcomers Barbara and Mike Conboy. Tony Pisano and Harvey Geller took second place honors. Top winners on Feb. 16 were Charles Porter and Peg Wainscott. A half-point behind was the team of Judi and Ben Winslow who were playing in Greenbelt for the first time. Games are open to the public and new teams are encouraged to play every Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Youth Center.

Two young people of Greenbelt went to the aid of Mrs. Margaret Grady last week after she fell in the snow and broke her ankle. Mike and Beth Nugent assisted Mrs. Grady to her home and their mother and a neighbor brought in groceries. This neighborly concern

Police Blotter

The Police Department, like most of the rest of us, was slowed down by last week's snowstorm. For a time only four-wheel drive vehicles could negotiate city streets. As the weather cleared, officers were faced with identifying vehicles abandoned by drivers, in the middle of roads. If the owners could not be contacted, cars had to be impounded to clear the way. Icy conditions prevailed during the early morning hours, particularly on Feb. 21, and some roads in the city had to be closed for short periods of time.

There were several complaints that juveniles were throwing snowballs at residences and vehicles. One 15-year-old girl was apprehended after she allegedly threw a snow-covered rock at a vehicle and damaged the door. She was released to her parents.

help a year ago February. You told the E & M Committee to come up with a formula. The committee has done that, but you still delay . . . I'm tired of hearing 'if, maybe and when.'"

"If we readjust the heating formula for units with additions, we must redistribute the charges to almost everyone," stated Smith.

Williams agreed. "We cannot ask the finance department to jiggle payments mid year."

Management was warned, though, to be prepared before next fall. The E&M Committee should be given information on R-values of insulation used in all existing additions, said McCarthy. (Reynolds and member Bill Stratton both claimed this information was accurate and easy, to obtain by using an infra-red gun. (GHI expects to purchase such a device as part of the rehabilitation program, according to Breashears.)

Armed with this information, management should be able, said McCarthy, to determine how the application of any particular formula might affect the overall heating budget.

Aesthetics Committee

The Aesthetics and Environment Committee made several recommendations concerning exterior siding and window treatment under the proposed rehabilitation program:

Siding: uniform width metal siding for the frame units, and Dryvit for masonry; problems could be handled by committee; selecting of siding manufacturer should be based on color selection as well as cost; and elimination of horizontal trim between 1st and 2nd floors of frame units.

Windows: committee commented unfavorably on type of window installed in the dental units; horizontal lines shorten proportions of house; bulk of triple track protrudes; color limited to white; too metallic-looking; additional glass to clean. Stratton showed the board an alternative the committee would like to see instead. They felt the advantages outweighed the extra cost. The same window comes both double-hung (recommended for frame units) and single-hung (masonry); thermopane glass (eliminates second or storm glass); variety of colors; vertical lines; less to clean.

"Making these windows available as an option is reasonable," commented Schwan. "It is too late now to opt for a window that costs that much more money or your budget figures go right out the window," he said. Stratton and committee chairman Ray McCawley both felt "members are concerned about quality."

The board will be making these kinds of decisions in the coming months.

Odds and Ends

In other items the board unanimously:

—approved Wednesday, May 23, as the date for the Annual Meeting, provided the Center School auditorium will be available.

—approved management's recommendation to accept the low bid from Gardiner C & E for a 30-Watt, two-way, communications system. Gardiner will provide GHI with a base station and three mobile units at a cost of $4419.47.

—agreed with the parking committee to give members priority over tenants in the rental of garages. Those with no garage will also have priority over those who already have a garage. Under the new rules a member with two garages or a tenant with one or two may be bumped by a member with no garage.

—agreed with the parking committee to actively pursue the development of additional parking spaces where the shortage is most acute. The board directed management to study the six areas proposed by the committee.

—commended employees for the tremendous job they did in plowing out drives to GHI's 168 boiler plants after the 24-inch snow fall last week, and to two men in particular who took turns voluntarily operating the back-hoe for 50 continuous hours (until it broke down).

—commended members for their cooperative help in digging themselves out of the snow. Most court parking lots and drives were usable in less than 24 hours.
